TYPESCRIPT (as prepared for publication) giving the history and full iconographical description of the Orders and Medals of fifty-seven countries represented in this collection compiled by the owner. The purchaser will acquire full copyright in the typescript.

132 (1) THE COLLECTION OF RIBANDS consists of about 2,300 specimens belonging to Orders and Medals instituted and awarded by seventy-five countries from the earliest times to 1935. The Ribands are beautifully arranged and mounted on slips inserted in sheets of bristol board, 18 in. by 13 in., with the name of the Order or Medal and date of institution beneath each riband, each sheet being enclosed in transparent non-inflammable tale containers. There are 123 sheets contained in two Deed Boxes

(2) TYPESCRIPT. The complete work was intended for publication in four volumes. Of these only the first volume, "The Orders and Medals of the British Empire," was published by Messrs. Ivor Nicholson and Watson, Ltd., in 1933. For financial reasons owing to the cost of publication, the whole work had to be abandoned, but the material compiled and arranged in typescript was completed for the following countries, and is now offered for sale with full copyright as above stated.

 Captain Jocelyn had studied the history of British and Foreign Orders and Medals for nearly twenty years when in 1925 he was informed by an official of the Foreign Office that an accurate and complete record of the subject would be of the greatest use in official circles, as well as of interest to collectors. While several books on British Orders and Medals had been published in this country, no attempt had been made to compile a record of Foreign Orders and Medals since 1858, when Sir Bernard Burke edited "The Book of Orders of Knighthood." In 1910, however, a more comprehensive work, "Die Ritter und Verdienst Orden, Ehrenzeichen und Medaillen, aller Souverane und Staaten," was compiled by L. J. Trost. In this work the United States and South American Republics were most incomplete. Following the upheaval of the Great War, many of the old historic Orders in Europe became obsolete, while a very large number of new Orders and Medals were instituted. It was obvious, therefore, that in compiling an up-to-date work, apart from checking and revising what had already been recorded, Captain Jocelyn was faced with a monumental task. To ensure accuracy, the method he adopted was to apply to a responsible Minister of the Government of each country, to whom a list was sent of all Orders and Medals already known to the compiler, and requesting that particulars should be sent of all Orders and Medals not mentioned in his list, together with a specimen of each riband. Thus every riband in this unique collection has been officially supplied by each country. The correspondence involved with seventy-five countries, in addition to the detailed description of thousands of Orders and Medals occupied no less than eight years of strenuous work. Many of the ribands in this collection are now exceedingly rare, indeed some of them are quite unprocurable. They were only obtained through the courtesy of National Museums at the special request of Government Ministers.

Ribands thus supplied will be found in the Spanish, Portuguese, Hawaiian, and South American Sections. Special interest attaches to the three following ribands: (1) The Imperial Order of St. Andrew, Russia. This riband was cut from the sash with had been worn by the murdered Tsar Nicholas II.; (2) The Masters' Badge, Portugal, was given to Captain Jocelyn by Dom Manoel, and had been worn by him as Sovereign of the Portuguese Orders; (3) The riband of the Cuban Order of Cespedes was given by the son of the President and Founder of the Order, from whose sash it was taken.

The Collection of Ribands now offered for sale was exhibited in the Galleries of Messrs. Spink & Son, King Street, St. James's, in June, 1933, where it was viewed by Her Majesty Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, the King of Greece, Ministers of State, Ambassadors, Members of the Corps Diplomatique, and many others.
